

Government Aid to Assure Antioch Improvements

CHICAGO FEDERAL OFFICE APPROVES BOARD'S APPLICATION

Will Erect New Water Reservoir and Install Sewers

WORK WILL BE STARTED SOON

Antioch is to receive federal aid for two needed public improvements if Washington puts its approval upon the projects as approved last Friday by the Chicago office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, according to Nason B. Sibley, chairman of the water and sewer committee of the village board. The projects include the erection of a new water reservoir and the installation of sewer mains on Harden and Spafford streets.

Approval was obtained last Friday when Sibley, Mayor George Bartlett, Village Attorney E. M. Runyard, and Engineer Anderson presented the matter at a hearing before federal officials in Chicago. All that now remains is the final check from the government in Washington, and that is expected within the next few days.

Government Pays 30 Per Cent
For the water reservoir, which is estimated to cost about $9,000, the village will receive $2,700, which according to the plan is 30 per cent of the estimated cost of labor and material. The balance can be paid for with cash already on hand, according to Sibley.

Federal aid for the sewer projects on Harden and Spafford streets is set at $1,120, that also being 30 per cent of the estimated cost of labor and material. While additional cost of the sewers will be paid by special assessments against the property benefited, the government aid will handle the payments for three years, so that there will be nothing for property owners to pay until the expiration of that period. In other words the federal government will finance the whole project for a period of three years, after which property owners will start paying special assessments, reimbursing the government for 70 per cent of the total cost, the 30 per cent being a gift from the federal government from the R. F. C. The court hearing will come up in week about two weeks in Waukegan and the water committee expects to have the work started as soon as possible and completed before the close of this year. With the completion of the new water tower, the present inadequate and unsafe tower will be removed.

Serving on the water and sewer committee with Chairman Sibley are Herb J. Vos and J. B. Drom.

Change in Library Days Is Announced

The Antioch Public Library will be open Monday afternoons from 3 to 5:30 p. m. instead of Tuesday afternoons, Miss Mary Stanley, librarian, stated yesterday. Other library hours are on Wednesday evening from 7 until 9 p. m., and Friday afternoon from 3 until 5:30.

Many patrons of the library have expressed their approval of the Wednesday evening hours, and for that reason the library is continuing them into the fall.

GUESSING CONTEST IS WON BY LESTER LUCAS, WADSWORTH

Guessing the number of nails in a jar proved worthwhile to Lester Lucas, Wadsworth, Ill., who received fifty baby chicks and a bag of feed for his lucky guess.

This contest was conducted at the Antioch Country Fair, by the Antioch Milling Company and the Mount Hatchery, 628 N. Main. The jar contained 27 spikes, 196 No. 6 nails 440 shingle nails, and 61 finish nails, totaling 721.

Guesses ranged from 160 to 6,000, but of the hundreds hazarding their opinions on the total, Mr. Lucas was the only one to guess the correct number.

MASON LAUNCHES SLOT MACHINE PROBE

State's Attorney Sends Investigator to Check Machines

HAND OF SYNDICATE
SEEN IN NEW ACTIVITY

The re-entry of slot machines in the lake region this week has prompted State's Attorney Charles E. Mason to launch an investigation to learn to what extent the machines are being used and who owns them. Presumably the machines have been installed to make a "clean up" from the army of Chicago duck hunters now making their annual invasion of the lake region. The machines are thought to be owned by "the syndicate."

This is the second investigation of slot machine operation to be started by Mason. The first came in July when it was reported that a high authority had ordered a clean up of Lake County. This edict is said to have brought immediate action from Lake county officials with the result that early in August 157 slot machines, said to be valued at more than $15,000, were seized by Deputy Sheriff Jack Daly who is chief investigator for the state's attorney's office. At the same time Leo Mongovian, reported to be first lieutenant for George "Bugs" Moran, and other Moran henchmen were arrested. Some of them paid fines of $100 each, but Moran was not found. Sixty slot machines were taken at the time of the arrest of the Moran men at Cassidy's resort at Bluff Lake, reported to be headquarters for the "syndicate."

Mason claims he turned over the slot machines to Sheriff Lester Tiffany, but whether or not they have been destroyed in accordance with the law is not known.

"Syndicate" Through, Mason Says
The August clean up ended the reign of the "syndicate" so far as State's Attorney Mason was concerned, for he is quoted as declaring that no gangsters ever would be permitted to operate in Lake County.

How the "syndicate" got a foothold in Lake County is another story—a story all too well known to those responsible for it.

The operation of gambling devices, being without the law, can be more effectively controlled by violence than by any statute or gentlemen's agreement. Thus it was that Johnny Nyhan, Deep Lake resort keeper, fell a victim of machine gun slugs at the hands of those who wanted control. All of which gives rise to the question, "Who bargained with gangsters for the sale of racket 'rights' in Lake County, and what was the price?"

No Machines Found
Reports are that investigator Daly witnessed slot machines in operation at Deep Lake last Friday, but took no steps to remove them. Mason's explanation of Daly's failure to act was that the investigator had no instructions from the state's attorney's office. After making a second tour of the resorts Tuesday Daly reported that he found no machines.

Ziegler Granted Leave of Absence From State Bank

W. F. Ziegler, cashier of the State Bank of Antioch for the past thirty years, has been granted a three-months leave of absence, it was learned this morning. Mr. Ziegler has worked faithfully in the service of the bank, and it is said that he has never failed to be "on hand" to prepare statements of the condition of the bank required four or five times a year.

During his thirty years at the bank and sixteen years previous to that when he was employed as station agent of the Wisconsin Central Railway at Antioch, he has had but a few short vacations, and therefore welcomes this change.

Miss Grace Drom has been appointed assistant cashier.

SEVERAL ARE IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Mrs. Einar Peterson Is Hurt When Car Overturns Near Libertyville

Mrs. Einar Peterson received a serious scalp wound Thursday morning, Oct. 12, when the car in which she was riding overturned as a result of the brakes locking. The accident occurred southwest of Half Day on Route 22. She was taken to the Libertyville hospital, where about a dozen stitches were taken on her head.

With her at the time of the accident were her baby daughter, June, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hennings. The baby was unhurt but Mr. and Mrs. Hennings suffered cuts and scratches about the face, and Mr. Hennings received a gash near his eye. They were on their way to Chicago when the accident occurred.

John Murphy, 18, received a badly cut hand Saturday evening when the car in which he was riding overturned at the corner of the Antioch-Pikeville road, a short distance from Pollock's greenhouse. With Murphy were Russell Hunter and Kenneth Crowley, both high school students, and Frank Blair. They received cuts and bruises, but were not seriously injured.

The boys were on their way to Pikeville about 9 o'clock Saturday evening and were driving at a rather high rate of speed it is said, when they struck some loose gravel near the curve and were unable to make the bend without overturning. The car, which is owned by Charles Crowley was not seriously damaged. Murphy was taken to the Lake Villa Emergency hospital, where six stitches were taken in his hand.

Dr. Jensen Attends Annual Conference of Veterinarians

Public Health Problems
Make Greater Demands
Upon Vets

Recent developments in the problem of animal health as related to human health were studied by Dr. G. W. Jensen when he attended the annual veterinary conference which the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois held Oct. 16, 17, and 18 at the University of Illinois College of Medicine in Chicago.

This was the first time in the 14 years of the conference that it has been held at the university medical school, reflecting the fact that animal health is becoming more closely related to human health.

The program for the conference this year was arranged by the division of animal pathology and hygiene of the agricultural college and the College of Medicine, cooperating with the Illinois Veterinary Medical Association. Forty-six speakers including members of the Illinois Veterinary Medical Association and state and federal officials, as well as staff members of the College of Agriculture and College of Medicine University of Illinois, were on the program.

Undulant fever, Bangs disease, equine encephalomyelitis, pettaconis and public health, together with surgical clinics were given a prominent place on the program.

Dr. Jensen states that public health problems are making greater demands upon the services of veterinarians than in previous years.

Mrs. E. J. Lutterman and Mrs. D. D. Campbell and Miss Anna Campbell spent Monday and Tuesday at Lake Winnebago, Wis.

ONE FATALITY, TWO CASUALTIES RESULT OF DUCK SEASON

Frank Stanek, Chicago, Shot Yesterday; Cicero Hunter Loses Foot

Frank Stanek, 18, 4131 P. Cermak Road, Chicago, was the first victim to be fatally wounded during the Lake County duck season which opened Monday noon.

The accident occurred at Lake Marie about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. As young Stanek was getting into a boat, his shotgun, a single barrel hammer type, was discharged, the full charge entering his right side.

He was rushed into town and was attended by Dr. W. W. Warriner. A Waukegan ambulance was called, but he passed away about 4 o'clock shortly before it arrived.

Stanek had been accompanied by his brother, Roy, and a friend, Frank Pohl, Chicago. They had come to Lake County early in the week to enjoy a hunting outing, according to Roy Stanek.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest conducted last night by Deputy Coroner Maurice Penney, Libertyville. The body was removed from Strang's undertaking parlors to Chicago after the inquest.

Two Injured
The opening day of the duck hunting season in Lake County resulted in the loss of a foot to Louis Turek, 26, of Cicero, and a serious wound in the right leg to Ralph Gillogly, 38, of Chicago. It was learned here this week.

Turek accidentally shot himself in the left foot while maneuvering in a boat near Waukegan. His foot was amputated at the Conell Memorial hospital in Libertyville by Dr. J. A. Ross.

Ralph Gillogly was hit in the right leg by the accidental discharge of a gun, owned by John J. Deck, 1917 Keystone Avenue, who was held as a material witness on a warrant issued at the request of State's Attorney Charles E. Mason, after an investigation by deputy sheriffs.

It is said that Deck dropped his gun as he fell in a boat, causing it to discharge and hit Gillogly who was on Squaw creek at the mouth of Fox Lake. The injured man was taken to the Lake County General hospital, where it was stated that he would recover.

Many Arrests Made
A number of arrests have been made in the Lake region, particularly in the vicinity of Fox Lake, by Deputy sheriffs and game wardens, according to Justice Sam Tarbell. The chief offenses listed are shooting protected birds which is illegal according to Section 8 of the Game laws and shooting from a motorboat, in violation of Section 16.

The following will appear before Justice Sam Tarbell at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon: Robert Hornung, Fox Lake; Henry Hill, Fox Lake; Ellis Lake; Fox Lake; Joe Sears, Fox Lake; R. Wright, Fox Lake; Mike Hlorek, Chicago; Otto Tim, Lake Forest; A. Hegeland, Chicago; Wm. Poltschrik, Edwin Klewer, and Chas. Clewer, Chicago; Charles C. Dussmann, Leonard Deck and John J. Deck, Chicago; Al Johnson, A. Benson, and Sam Blumer, Chicago.

Of the large number who welcomed the opening of the duck season Monday noon in the Grass and Fox Lake region particularly, the bag limit of twelve was reached by a few. Hunters are hoping for colder weather more favorable to duck hunting.

The duck season closes at sundown, December 15.

WORLD'S FAIR TO REMAIN OPEN UNTIL NOV. 13

A Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago will remain open to the public until midnight, November 12, instead of closing October 31, as originally intended, according to an official announcement Tuesday by Maj. Lenox R. Lohi, general manager of the exposition.

This will lengthen the life of the fair by almost two weeks, and will accommodate Armistice Day crowds over the double holiday on Saturday and Sunday. The extension was urged by civic and business leaders of the city as well as Fair concessionaires. Plans are being made to feature November 11 as the biggest Armistice Day in history.

Despite the present agitation that the fair be reopened next summer, no official action has been made. Other suggestions are that the grounds be made into a permanent park and pleasure resort.

Pure Milk Ass'n Demands Action; Threatening Strike

Federal Hearing of Three Independent Dairies
Continues

Impatient at the delay of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to force Chicago independent dealers to boost milk prices, Don N. Geyer, managing director of the Pure Milk Association, sent a telegram to the AAA threatening a milk strike unless action is forthcoming within the next few days.

This action was taken at a secret meeting of 300 delegates at the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, Monday. They voted unanimously to give the directors power to stop deliveries to dairies in the Chicago area. The Pure Milk Association, made up of 17,000 dairymen, supplies approximately 95 per cent of the milk in the Chicago area.

Hear Violators
Federal hearing of three milk distributors—the Lake View, the Edgewater, and the Wagner dairy companies, who have been cited to show cause why their licenses to sell should not be revoked by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace—began Monday. They are charged with violating the milk marketing agreement, by selling milk at a lower price than that stipulated by the milk price code signed by producers and dealers.

ANTIOCH FIREMEN ARE SPEAKERS AT STATE CONVENTION

Hunter & Rosing Delegates to Rockford; Horan and Huber to Speak

Frank B. Huber, past president of the Lake County Firemen's Association, and John L. Horan, present secretary of the county organization, are speakers this week at the state convention of firemen being held in Rockford Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Huber spoke to the state firemen yesterday and Horan will address the convention this afternoon.

Delegates to the state meet from the Antioch Department are Herman Rosing and Elmer Hunter, both very active members of the local department with which they have been identified for many years.

Others in attendance at the convention include Chief James Stearns, Richard Allner, Edgar Simonson, Irving Elms, Russell Keulman, and Otto S. Klass.

The Lake county meeting will be held next Monday at Lake Bluff, when Chief J. W. Just of the Illinois Inspection Bureau, will be the principal speaker.

Bolger To Address Lake County Taxpayers

Representative Thomas Bolger of McHenry county will address Lake county taxpayers next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Waukegan City Hall. Bolger, who will speak under the auspices of the National Taxpayers' League, will speak on the Bederman Resolution which passed in the Illinois House of Representatives by a vote exceeding 25 to 1, or 128 to 5. Governor Horner used his influence to have the bill killed in the senate.

The measure provided for exempting the home from taxation on the first $1,000 of valuation and limiting all property taxes to one per cent of value.

In the past two years similar legislation has been proposed in practically every state, and has been adopted by two—Florida and Texas.

The fact that there are 58,500 real estate properties in Lake county upon which the taxes are reported as delinquent, should be sufficient to arouse people to an interest in legislation affecting their welfare, according to Robert A. Foulds, secretary to the publicity committee of the National Taxpayers.

Every Lake county taxpayer is invited to hear Rep. Bolger speak Tuesday night.

Mrs. A. J. Felter reports that she is much improved from her recent illness. Callers at her home Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. A. Boyer Nelson; Sunday, Mrs. W. C. Petty, Mrs. Dr. Cilla Farris, and Rev. L. V. Suther; Monday, Rev. Philip T. Dahl, and Mrs. James Todd, Twin Lakes.

TAXPAYERS ACT TO BLOCK BOND ISSUE PROJECT

Lake County Groups Ask
Legislators' Aid to Defeat Bill

WOULD SHIFT RELIEF
BURDEN, ORVIS SAYS

Joining forces with the state association of taxpayers, the Central Lake County Taxpayers' Association and the Waukegan Taxpayers' Association this week are taking steps to assist the downstate body of taxpayers in their effort to block what is termed Chicago's "attempt to saddle its poor relief obligations" on the rest of the state by opposing legislation pending in Springfield.

A bulletin from Secretary E. N. Bloomer of the Illinois Taxpayers' Association brought immediate action from the Lake county groups, headed by E. V. Orvis, president of the Central Lake County Taxpayers' and W. F. Brechelsen, head of the Waukegan group. Resolutions have been prepared along the lines suggested by Frank H. Funk, president of the state organization.

Calls Legislators to Fight
Down state stands to lose out materially if Governor Horner's relief program is adopted by the legislature and the proposed thirty million dollar bond issue is then rejected by the voters. President Funk said in a statement sent Wednesday to 50 county taxpayers' associations in the state.

"The vote of Senator L. G. Siebens, Tuesday, Oct. 10, for one of the bills in Gov. Horner's emergency unemployment relief program, challenges the immediate attention of all taxpayers in this district," Mr. Funk's message to the units in the seventeenth district said.

"Downstate taxpayers may be forced to pay for a large part of the cost of Cook county relief if this unfair and unjust proposal is enacted into law," he asserted.

Property Tax Proposed
His explanation of this contention follows:

"The governor's program proposes to submit to the voters a state wide bond issue for thirty million dollars. These bonds and interest if approved by the voters in the November, 1934, election, are to be paid by the cities (Continued on Page 8)

Petty Completes Survey of Rural School Conditions

Thirteen of the Sixty-Three Schools Can Boast a Superior Rating

A number of interesting facts concerning the rural schools of the county were disclosed in the survey of elementary schools recently completed by County Superintendent W. C. Petty.

Thirteen of the sixty-three one-room schools have a Superior rating, the highest award for teaching, equipment, physical adequacy of the building and grounds, and community spirit. Twenty-nine have a Standard rating.

The days when the children used to huddle about a stove on wintry mornings have disappeared for all Lake Co. children except those attending the two remaining schools which still use that form of heating. All of the others have furnaces. Sixty-two schools have modern or semi-modern plumbing and sewage systems.

Many Organized P. T. Groups
Nearly all the schools reported a parents and teacher organization although only eleven support a Parent-Teachers Association formed for the exclusive purpose of considering school problems. Most of them include community and social matters in their work as well as school needs.

Forty-four reported piano, 33 drinking fountains and a pressure water system, 45 playgrounds equipped with apparatus, all of them reported libraries with the best equipped having 450 books and the lowest 25, and 45 reported an electric lighting system.

There are 47 one-room schools with walls, 25 fenced in with barbed wire that can be utilized for community gatherings and 16 serving hot lunches with two other schools planning to add hot lunches this winter.

BUILDING BOOM GETS STARTED

Figures show that the long awaited residential construction boom is beginning to make itself felt. During the first half of August, construction of this type, as reported to F. W. Dodge Corporation, totaled $10,876,000 as against $8,812,300 for the same period last year—a gain of 23 per cent. This marked the fourth consecutive month in which advances were made over the comparable months in 1932.

For a number of years there has been a definite home shortage in America—for at least three of those years building was virtually at a standstill, and existing structures were subjected to more than usual depreciation, because of inattention to needed repairs. This wasn't due to lack of desire. It was due principally to lack of funds in thousands of families, and to a psychology of fear that prevented others, having ample funds, from spending. The first class is returning to its jobs now, and regular pay envelopes are brought home on Saturday nights. The second is discovering that rising prices will shortly make it impossible to obtain new buildings or to improve old ones at bargain prices. And both classes are going into the market for better living quarters. Still another beneficial influence is the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, which makes possible home financing that could not otherwise be obtained.

Yes, there's every indication that we're on the verge of a major building revival that will be particularly striking in the residential field. All who can should aid the relief program by taking advantage of low prices for land and material.

MOVE FOR CREDIT EXPANSION

The Federal government has started a planned and aggressive drive for credit expansion. The drive takes many forms. One is renewed efforts to open banks which remained closed after the banking moratorium. Another is to make possible greater credit freedom in banks which are open but are still operating under restrictions. Another is to increase potential bank credit through open market purchases by the federal reserve. The public works program enters into it, as does the proposal to bolster basic industries with government loans. This last has already been done in the case of the railroads; it will very likely be extended to other industries in the future.

During the last half-year business production has shown steady and sharp rises. Between March and September, according to a New York Times graph, the general barometer went from about 60 to 79, the high of 87 being reached in mid-July. On the other hand, the amount of credit available for financing this production has changed very little. In March it stood at 16 billions of dollars, and in September at 16½ billions. Where production has jumped a third, credit facilities have risen about 3 per cent. The importance of credit is well illustrated by the fact that in this country, in these days, the normal amount of bank credit outstanding is $50,000,000,000 while the total money in circulation is but $5,500,000,000.

While this credit drive faces many problems, there is a strong belief in many centers that it will be able to loosen credit to the point where any other means of inflation will be unnecessary.

PRICES AND THE A. A. A.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, the personnel of the A. A. A. (Agricultural Adjustment Administration), and everyone else in a responsible position in one or another of the departments whose mission in life is to find a place for the farmer in the recovery parade, are in a tough spot. Today it costs the consumer—farmer or city dweller—about 13 per cent more to buy most necessities of life than it did in June, when the recovery program was still largely in the planning stage. In the face of this, the farmer has watched his income drop steadily. When city prices touched 16 per cent above the 1913 level, farm prices declined to 30 per cent below.

As a result, the A. A. A. came out the other day with an announcement to the effect that it opposed overly rapid rises in the cost of manufactured goods. The A. A. A. is likewise studying a proposed food code which embodies a new approach to the farm problem. Under the code, minimum prices for foodstuffs would be fixed. Distributors of foodstuffs—a business with $10,000,000,000 annual turnover—would agree to pay more to farmers in return for a farm promise to reduce output. Consumers' counsel of the A. A. A. is afraid the code would result in higher prices to the public than it can now afford, and this is the main bone of contention.

It is the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture to keep farm prices on a level with city prices. Mr. Wallace is as keen as any farmer to do that. But it's slow going. One great problem is that too many farmers are still disorganized, and it takes much longer to get them together than it does to prepare a plan of attack for industry.

BACK TO THE FARM!

National interest has been aroused in a suggestion made a short time ago by Editor Walter P. McGuire of the Southside Virginia News, Petersburg, Virginia; the suggestion being that farm boys keep on the farm.

It's a simple suggestion, and a very sound one. How much unemployment has been caused by the trek from farm to city is problematical—but it would make an impressive total. These young men, for the most part, are untrained and inexperienced and unfitted for factory work. They rarely find jobs above the common labor level. They are the first to be dismissed when times get hard—and the last to be taken back when recovery starts.

They know farming—and the farm is where they belong, for their own good and for that of the nation. It is on the farm that they have their chance to prosper and live happy and useful lives. It's time the trend was reversed—with the farm-boys-turned-city-boys going home again.

How Health Affects School Child's Scholarship and Behavior

By FRANCES BERKELEY FLOORE
Director of Dietetics, St. Luke's Hospital

WISE parents recognize that their children's health is more important than an unbroken attendance record at school or the best "marks" in the room. These parents are doubly wise for if children achieve health first, they are much more likely to have the good grades, too.

It has been shown that when the physical health of young students is improved through better diet and general health habits, class grades and school records tend also to be improved, because under-nutrition and poor health undermine the nervous stamina and make it impossible for the child to make a concentrated effort.

This idea of the relation between health and mental alertness is not new. The ancient Greeks and Romans believed that a strong active mind developed only in a vigorous, healthy body.

Children's behavior and reactions as well as their scholastic attainments are apt to improve with improved health. For example, when a test was made of the results of just one improved health habit—milk drinking in the morning at school—about fifty per cent of the children were found to have improved 25% or more in three respects. They became less easily fatigued; were more even tempered; and were less uncommunicative.

Incidentally, the fact that these studies were carried out with children who did not show the usual evidences of malnutrition gives additional evidence that for developing the greatest health and efficiency, all children should have an abundance of milk. Numerous other experiments show the close connection between physical and mental health. Among German school children a general lowering in the quality of the school work after the war as contrasted with that done before the war, was found to be largely a result of the under-feeding the children had undergone during the war period which left them nervous and unable to concentrate. Using length of life as a measure of physical fitness and college graduation as a measure of mental ability, a more recent study in the United States had interesting results. It showed from a survey covering records of college graduates over a period of 55 years, that these people had a lower mortality rate than that of the average for all white males in the United States; and that the mortality rate of the honor men among nearly 40,000 graduates from eight eastern colleges was even lower than the general average of all college graduates.

For parents, the practical value of these experiments is to show that if your child is not accomplishing all you feel he should in school, it will be well to check with your physician to make sure he is thoroughly well.

NEW LAW MAKES INAUGURAL DATE ON JANUARY 20TH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The twentieth amendment will be officially written into the constitution today automatically forbidding any future short sessions of congress of the type that so frequently in the past has wound up in a blaze of filibustering oratory.

The new amendment changes from March 4 to Jan. 20 the date on which Presidents are inaugurated. It thus permits a retiring president seventeen days with a new congress, which hereafter will meet Jan. 3, even when that date comes on Sunday. The new congress in presidential years formally elects the new President by its poll of the electoral votes of the states.

First Passed by 48 States
The twentieth amendment has the distinction of being the only change in the constitution to receive unanimous approval.

mous ratification by the forty-eight states. The new article also established a record for the speed by which it was approved by them. However, when there were about a third as many states in 1804, the twelfth amendment was approved in the speediest time of all—about eight and a half months.

Although three-fourth of the states—all that is necessary—ratified the twentieth amendment within less than a year after it was submitted to them on March 2, 1932, it could not become effective until the 15th of October after ratification.

Virginia was the first state to approve it—on March 4, 1932, and Missouri was the thirty-sixth, on Jan. 23, 1933, voting out Massachusetts and Nevada in a race for the place. The remaining twelve approved it last winter.

Norris Makes Long Fight
Senator Norris, Independent Republican from Nebraska author of the resolution, held out for two indeterminate sessions of congress. Republican leaders in control of the house remained steadfast for a limitation on the second session. Not until the Democrats gained control of the house in December, 1931, was the resolution favorably considered.

The senate, which previously had five times adopted the resolution for submission of the amendment in February, 1932, for the sixth time sent it to the house, which finally agreed to it on March 2.

The new law will cut two months off President Roosevelt's term and about $9,000 off his pay. No adjournment date is provided for congress. In the past the long term of congress generally was terminated in June or July.

BUILDING BOOM GETS STARTED

Figures show that the long awaited residential construction boom is beginning to make itself felt. During the first half of August, construction of this type, as reported to F. W. Dodge Corporation, totaled $10,876,000 as against $8,812,300 for the same period last year—a gain of 23 per cent. This marked the fourth consecutive month in which advances were made over the comparable months in 1932.

For a number of years there has been a definite home shortage in America—for at least three of those years building was virtually at a standstill, and existing structures were subjected to more than usual depreciation, because of inattention to needed repairs. This wasn't due to lack of desire. It was due principally to lack of funds in thousands of families, and to a psychology of fear that prevented others, having ample funds, from spending. The first class is returning to its jobs now, and regular pay envelopes are brought home on Saturday nights. The second is discovering that rising prices will shortly make it impossible to obtain new buildings or to improve old ones at bargain prices. And both classes are going into the market for better living quarters. Still another beneficial influence is the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, which makes possible home financing that could not otherwise be obtained.

Yes, there's every indication that we're on the verge of a major building revival that will be particularly striking in the residential field. All who can should aid the relief program by taking advantage of low prices for land and material.

MOVE FOR CREDIT EXPANSION

The Federal government has started a planned and aggressive drive for credit expansion. The drive takes many forms. One is renewed efforts to open banks which remained closed after the banking moratorium. Another is to make possible greater credit freedom in banks which are open but are still operating under restrictions. Another is to increase potential bank credit through open market purchases by the federal reserve. The public works program enters into it, as does the proposal to bolster basic industries with government loans. This last has already been done in the case of the railroads; it will very likely be extended to other industries in the future.

During the last half-year business production has shown steady and sharp rises. Between March and September, according to a New York Times graph, the general barometer went from about 60 to 79, the high of 87 being reached in mid-July. On the other hand, the amount of credit available for financing this production has changed very little. In March it stood at 16 billions of dollars, and in September at 16½ billions. Where production has jumped a third, credit facilities have risen about 3 per cent. The importance of credit is well illustrated by the fact that in this country, in these days, the normal amount of bank credit outstanding is $50,000,000,000 while the total money in circulation is but $5,500,000,000.

While this credit drive faces many problems, there is a strong belief in many centers that it will be able to loosen credit to the point where any other means of inflation will be unnecessary.

PRICES AND THE A. A. A.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, the personnel of the A. A. A. (Agricultural Adjustment Administration), and everyone else in a responsible position in one or another of the departments whose mission in life is to find a place for the farmer in the recovery parade, are in a tough spot. Today it costs the consumer—farmer or city dweller—about 13 per cent more to buy most necessities of life than it did in June, when the recovery program was still largely in the planning stage. In the face of this, the farmer has watched his income drop steadily. When city prices touched 16 per cent above the 1913 level, farm prices declined to 30 per cent below.

As a result, the A. A. A. came out the other day with an announcement to the effect that it opposed overly rapid rises in the cost of manufactured goods. The A. A. A. is likewise studying a proposed food code which embodies a new approach to the farm problem. Under the code, minimum prices for foodstuffs would be fixed. Distributors of foodstuffs—a business with $10,000,000,000 annual turnover—would agree to pay more to farmers in return for a farm promise to reduce output. Consumers' counsel of the A. A. A. is afraid the code would result in higher prices to the public than it can now afford, and this is the main bone of contention.

It is the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture to keep farm prices on a level with city prices. Mr. Wallace is as keen as any farmer to do that. But it's slow going. One great problem is that too many farmers are still disorganized, and it takes much longer to get them together than it does to prepare a plan of attack for industry.

BACK TO THE FARM!

National interest has been aroused in a suggestion made a short time ago by Editor Walter P. McGuire of the Southside Virginia News, Petersburg, Virginia; the suggestion being that farm boys keep on the farm.

It's a simple suggestion, and a very sound one. How much unemployment has been caused by the trek from farm to city is problematical—but it would make an impressive total. These young men, for the most part, are untrained and inexperienced and unfitted for factory work. They rarely find jobs above the common labor level. They are the first to be dismissed when times get hard—and the last to be taken back when recovery starts.

They know farming—and the farm is where they belong, for their own good and for that of the nation. It is on the farm that they have their chance to prosper and live happy and useful lives. It's time the trend was reversed—with the farm-boys-turned-city-boys going home again.

How Health Affects School Child's Scholarship and Behavior

By FRANCES BERKELEY FLOORE,
Director of Dietetics, St. Luke's Hospital

Wise parents recognize that their children's health is more important than an unbroken attendance record at school or the best "marks" in the room. These parents are doubly wise, for if children achieve health first, they are much more likely to have the good grades, too.

It has been shown that when the physical health of young students is improved through better diet and general health habits, class grades and school records tend also to be improved, because under-nutrition and poor health undermine the nervous system and make it impossible for the child to make a concentrated effort.

This idea of the relation between health and mental alertness is not new. The ancient Greeks and Romans believed that a strong active mind developed only in a vigorous, healthy body.

Children's behavior and reactions as well as their scholastic attainments are apt to improve with improved health. For example, when a test was made of the results of just one improved health habit—milk drinking in the morning at school—about fifty per cent of the children were found to have improved 25% or more in three respects. They became less easily fatigued; were more even tempered; and were less uncommunicative.

Incidentally, the fact that these studies were carried out with children who did not show the usual evidences of malnutrition gives additional evidence that for developing the greatest health and efficiency, all children should have an abundance of milk. Numerous other experiments show the close connection between physical and mental health. Among German school children a general lowering in the quality of the school work

after the war as contrasted with that done before the war, was found to be largely a result of the under-feeding the children had undergone during the war period which left them nervous and unable to concentrate. Using length of life as a measure of physical fitness and college graduation as a measure of mental ability, a more recent study in the United States had interesting results. It showed from a survey covering records of college graduates over a period of 55 years, that these people had a lower mortality rate than that of the average for all white males in the United States; and that the mortality rate of the honor men among nearly 40,000 graduates from eight eastern colleges was even lower than the general average of all college graduates.

For parents, the practical value of these experiments is to show that if your child is not accomplishing all you feel he should in school, it will be well to check with your physician to make sure he is thoroughly well.

PONTIAC
wants a man
to establish a permanent and profitable business

WE ARE seeking a good, reputable business man to establish himself in a permanent and profitable business selling—and servicing—Pontiac cars right here in this city.

Naturally, we want the best man we can get . . . this means a man with a sound reputation for fair and honest dealings with his friends and neighbors . . . with the ability to sell Pontiacs to new prospects, and to help Pontiac owners get the most pleasure and satisfaction out of their cars . . . the skill and experience to promote and organize the sales abilities of others . . . and a keen desire to put behind a dealership all the aggressiveness and skill of which he is capable.

In turn, we will give him an exceptional car to handle . . . Pontiac, the car that made, built and shipped more cars during the first five months of 1933 than during all of 1932; a car backed by a 29-year reputation for value second to none in the automobile field.

If you are the man—or know of some such individual—get in touch with us at once for complete information. Your letter will be held in strictest confidence.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 15.

The Golden Text was, "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Cor. 5:18).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us; we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (II Cor. 5:17, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "He to whom 'the arm of the Lord' is revealed will believe our report, and rise into newness of life with regeneration. This is having part in the atonement; this is the understanding, in which Jesus suffered and triumphed" (p. 24).

Establish Buick-Pontiac
dealership Here,
Official Says

"It has been chosen as one of the towns in which every effort will be made to have a combined Buick and Pontiac dealership in the expansion program which is being pushed this fall preparatory to the 1934 selling season according to Samuel F. Baker, field representative of the Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales company who visited here this week.

Mr. Baker reports that a survey was made of all towns in which Buick and Pontiac has no representation to learn whether the volume of business would warrant such an establishment. Mr. Baker likewise reported that unless a town had sufficient population, industry and wealth to make money on his investment, no attempt was made to establish a dealer there because the factory only wanted dealers who could make money for themselves. It is likewise desirable to have service facilities at hand for the present owners of Buicks and Pontiacs in Antioch and the surrounding territory.

"We are on an up market which should mean opportunities for men of business experience and some capital to participate in the profits that will be made in the automobile industry in the next and following years," said Mr. Baker. "It is not essential that a man should have been in the automobile industry previously to make a success of this business. It is specialized, in a sense, but not any more so than the ordinary business."

"Few people realize that a dealer in no other business receives the help in guiding him that the automobile factories provide. The factories provide a dealer with an estimate of the cost of a building or the rental he should pay for the potential sales in his territory, the number of new cars he should have on hand, how to recondition used cars, the maximum time he should keep any used car, how many salesmen he should have and how to lay out his showroom. Courses are provided for training sales and service managers. These are but a few items of the business management guidance a dealer receives. I know of no other industry that has analyzed retail outlets, market potentialities and provides so many guiding tools as does the automobile industry. These guidances are not theoretical but based upon thousands of examples of dealers, experiences of which records are kept at the factories.

Irving Walsh and Lester Osmond Are Runners-up in Tournament

The senior class of the Antioch high school proved its superiority in the sport of golf at an intramural golf tournament held last Saturday at the Chain O' Lakes Golf Course. The juniors came in second, followed by the sophomores, with the freshmen trailing.

Xavier Hawkins, a member of the junior class, was the high or rather, "low" individual, with a score of 94. Irving Walsh, sophomore, was second with 95, and Lester Osmond, a senior was third with 97.

Any number were permitted to enter in the tournament and the three with the lowest scores in each class were counted toward the class total. The tournament was arranged through the courtesy of the Chain O' Lakes officials.

Our Part in Government

TODAY men of all nations are evidencing deep interest in the affairs of their respective governments. This progressive attitude has undoubtedly resulted from the ceaseless, though not always recognized, influence of the wonderful Christian teaching that in the sight of God all men are equal. This does not mean that every person as a citizen can have assigned to him a special public duty. However, to everyone comes the privilege, as well as the duty, of being a supporter of right government, and this is indeed a high office. To each citizen come opportunities to support a righteous government through intelligent thinking. Through the cultivation and exercise of such qualities of thought as are implied by the words understanding, charity, citizenship, and prayer, the individual can prepare himself to be a useful citizen in his community.

Christian Science enables one to regard these subjects in their true light. As men begin to grasp the truth concerning God's government, and to prove their understanding by bettering individual thinking, they find themselves willing and ready to accept the responsibilities of useful citizenship.

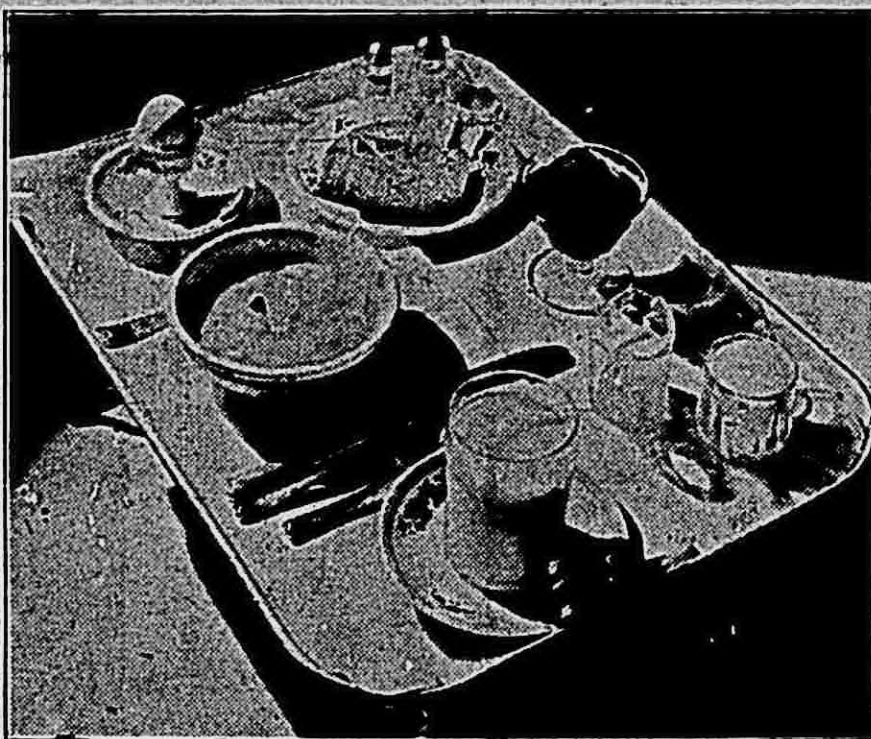

Many opportunities are thus made available by spiritual understanding. This understanding includes intelligent comprehension, enlightenment, alertness. One who through Christian Science seeks to understand his government, its purposes, methods, and aims, has an intelligent standard whereby to measure its acts. He is not misled by false propaganda or by personal influence. He casts his ballot on the side of integrity, sound sense, and progress. In this way he rises above the limitations of a merely material sense of government and begins to demonstrate the truth concerning real government, for he has learned the spiritual nature of man as an intelligent son of an all-wise God, the perfect Mind.

Charity, too, is an open door to opportunities for serving. It may be described as a true sense of love. Charity is the attitude which rejoices in the certainty of the ultimate triumph of Truth, even when evil seems threatening. To charity, evil is only a deceiving false sense which may be progressively replaced with the true sense of being as spiritual. When charity governs thought, the citizen may look critically upon his government in a helpful way. He may turn the searchlight of critical inspection on the nation's functioning, and by keeping aglow in his own thought the light of wisdom, fairness, patience, and love he will be able to see not only the errors to be eradicated, but the good already accomplished.

Many doors to service are opened by the qualities expressed in the word "citizenship." Citizenship, as a way of living, has to do with such opportunities as come to the citizen in the usual walks of life, in the home, the school, or the shop. Citizenship means bringing to bear upon these activities the influence of a high idealism. It means practicing Jesus' Golden Rule, "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." For the student of Christian Science to be a good citizen he must practice the truth discovered and founded by Mary Baker Eddy. That this religion is the Science of Jesus' teachings has been proved many times by the works which its students have done and are doing through the spiritual understanding of God's law. He who practices Christian Science, in ways small or great, is well prepared to take his place as a servant of mankind. Speaking of "a knowledge of the Science of being," Mrs. Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 128), "It raises the thinker into his native air of insight and perspicacity." Surely, one so equipped can furnish strong support to the right activities of civic government. This support is the best service is opened through the power for good in true prayer. Prayer founded thought on the divinely substantial Rock, Christ, the true idea of God, the strong foundation for the superstructure of harmonious living. This prayer avails, and the Christian Scientist learns to pray availing not alone for the good of himself, but for the whole world. In Christian Science, prayer is fervent, reverent aspiration; it is spiritual vision. Prayer is that mental attitude which rests on the conviction that God, Love, is the only cause and creator, and that every real effect is Godlike. Prayer breaks the mesmerism of befooling material sense, and through the mists it reveals God's map, governed by God. Through prayer, consciousness is filled with the holy facts of being; greed is replaced with unselfed love, hatred with brotherhood, lust with peace, and ignorance with wisdom.

"Are we benefited by praying?" asks Mrs. Eddy on page 2 of Science and Health, and her immediate answer is, "Yes; the desire which goes forth hungering after righteousness is blessed of our Father, and it does not return unto us void." As men universally learn so to pray, the mental atmosphere of the whole world will be suffused with loving-kindness, and all can then echo the angelic rejoicing, recorded by the Revelator, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever."—The Christian Science Monitor.

"Vitamins and Minerals Required for Tots," Says Diet Expert

A Substantial Breakfast Is Essential to the Boy or Girl of School Age.

By FRANCES BERKELEY FLOORE
Director of Dietetics, St. Luke's Hospital

MOST parents watch their children carefully for signs of poor physical development or a listless mental attitude, and it is true that such outward appearances do show to some extent, whether the child is thoroughly healthy; whether he is getting the proper food, rest and exercise. However, nutritional scientists and child specialists state that this is not an infallible indication that all is well. There may be as well a "hidden hunger"—a nutritional deficiency that will not evidence itself immediately but will endanger the child's future health.

This lack is most apt to be in the vitamins and the mineral, calcium. That is why scientists recommend that the foods rich in these qualities be included in each day's diet. In other words, that is why they say the child's daily menu should include one quart of milk; two servings of vegetables, one of the green leafy type; and two servings of fruits, one of the citrus variety; supplemented by eggs taken several times a week.

If the diet is greatly deficient in these food elements, definite physical ills such as rickets, eye trouble, nervous diseases, dental ills or scurvy may occur, and if the diet has only "just enough" of these minerals and vitamins, the child cannot attain the best health.

Each of these protective foods is indispensable—that is, extra quantities of one that the child happens to like particularly well cannot be substituted for any one of the others and insure that the child will be adequately nourished.

For instance, the calcium which is one of the minerals most apt to be lacking in the American diet (both of adults and children) cannot be secured in satisfactory amounts in any other food except milk. About ten servings daily of vegetables and ten servings of fruits would have to be taken to get the amount of calcium equal to that in slightly more than one pint of milk or the adult's calcium need. Children require about twice this much, so it is obvious that it would be impractical to attempt to supply this particular element in any other food, especially since the quality of the calcium in other foods is not as desirable as that in milk.

This single quart of milk will also provide practically all of the individual's phosphorus requirement, a liberal amount of the Vitamins A and G, one-third or more of the protein, 1/4 or more of the iron, at least 1/4 of the energy and some of the Vitamins B, C and D. In the winter time the child's diet should usually be supplemented by either cod liver oil or irradiated ergosterol.

Thus it is obvious that milk, as our most complete food, is not only necessary for adequate nutrition, but also for the truest economy.

GENESEE THEATRE

Mae West, who "scorched" the nation with her first starring picture, "She Done Him Wrong," became a national idol, and then took Paris by storm and revolutionized feminine styles, came back to town yesterday with her new pictures, "I'm No Angel." It opens for a week's run at the Genesee Theatre, Waukegan, Sunday, Oct. 22.

From every standpoint, "I'm No Angel" is a better picture than its predecessor. Miss West is even more colorful as Tina, the Million Dollar Beauty, who tames savage lions and men with equal facility, than she was as the diamond bedecked Lord Paramount has given the second production of its greatest star an excellent cast, smart direction and gilded mounting.

Mae sings seven "scorch songs," dances the midways, as a remarkable dancer in which she moves everything except her feet; puts her head in a lion's mouth; utters a succession of breezy wisecracks which probably will be heard everywhere, as was "Come up and see me sometime"—until another West picture brings us some more Westisms.

BENNETT'S BOOK "PRICE OF LOVE" IS NOT UP TO PAR

"Slayer of Souls" by Robt. Chambers Is Fantastic Mystery Yarn

"Price of Love" by Arnold Bennett is the story of a maid and companion to an old lady, her love for the old lady's nephew, a weak youth who commits a robbery, and the ensuing complications. It's mildly interesting, although the plot is rather improbable, and the characters slightly overdrawn. Perhaps because it was written by Arnold Bennett one expects more, and therefore feels a little let-down.

"Slayer of Souls" by Robert W. Chambers is entirely different from most of his novels, which tend toward the historical novel. This one deals with the fantastic idea that there are (or were) a number of persons, of Bolshevik tendency who possessed the evil power of killing souls, and of gaining ascendancy over the thoughts and actions of their victims.

A young girl, who had spent several years in a Chinese Temple, believes that her soul has been lost; nevertheless, she agrees to act in cooperation with U. S. officials to exterminate these men, and her manner of so doing forms most of the story. There is a love element, too, but it does not constitute a major portion of the tale.

The book does not take long to read—it can easily be read in an evening. In fact, light though it is, after once starting it, one doesn't feel like putting it down until it is finished—that is, if it catches your interest in the first place.

Both of these books may be obtained at the Antioch Public Library.

Fashion Previews

Wide waisted corduroy, in dark brown, deep blue, and black, is used for square handbags. Clasp are of silver or gold. Corduroy is good for nearly everything this season—from gloves to entire ensembles, including hats.

Burnt ostrich feather trimming in bands ten inches deep in black and in white, to trim capes, cuffs, and hosiery for dancing or dinner frocks, are being found in most department stores.

Cowl collars now hang down the backline or in front and back, in gracefully draped lines.

Massive jewel sets, made of gold or platinum and set with precious stones, will be worn with evening dresses this winter to produce Oriental effects.

Many of the fall bags have gold frames, chains or trimmings, particularly those bags made of black velvet.

Once more we have plaid skirts, cut either perfectly straight or with a few low kick plaits. In keeping with the wave of bright color which is forecast to be the reaction to the present somber blacks, the color combinations employed are completely wild.

Here Are Hints to Make Papering and Painting Less Trying

So far we've had pretty ideal such for housecleaning, haven't we? Except for the flies, which we but'll soon be fatally stricken, it's time to get ready for painting and papering.

Most of us are people who claim that the old wall paper is just the value of a job as putting on new, the flanking method of removing wall paper is easily—it may not appeal to Raymond, but for future use.

Remember it for future use: solution of paste or flour in Edna May, and add a few ounces of ketchup. Spread this paste on freely. Yvonne and the paper comes off readily.

When you come to start the painting job, and find the paint brushes hardened, it's annoying, to say the least. However, it doesn't take long to soften and clean them—simply put them in hot vinegar which is allowed to simmer over a slow fire for a few minutes. Then wash brushes in soap suds.

Here's one more hint to make your housecleaning easier and more satisfactory this year. Before laying the small rugs down on the floors again, after they have been thoroughly cleaned, new fruit jar rubbers at each corner to prevent them from slipping and wrinkling.

When to Wear or Remove Gloves Is Often Perplexing

Various Occasions Require Different Manipulation of Gloves

"Should I have removed my gloves when I went in to dinner, or after we were seated?"

Questions similar to this one bob up to perplex one, sometimes rather embarrassingly. The material from which gloves are made is usually a matter of fashion, which changes from season to season. However, there are a few rules regarding the correct usage of gloves which one may observe.

Gloves are worn on the street and when traveling as a general rule. To shake hands with a woman, a man removes his right glove especially if her hand is ungloved.

For formal occasions hats and gloves are worn by women guests at a formal tea or reception. Neither the hostess nor the guest of honor wears gloves, although the latter usually wears a hat.

Gloves should be carried, although not necessarily worn by women guests at a musicale.

Gloves are not removed at a formal dinner, until after the guests have been seated at the table and then even long gloves are removed entirely. They are never rolled at the wrist. Most women remove their gloves at a formal luncheon.

Although brides in most instances do not wear gloves, there are occasions depending upon the wedding, the costume, and the general circumstances, when they do. If long sleeved gowns are worn, gloves are not necessary; but with short sleeved dresses, they are usually worn, of the left one carried.

A sixteen-year-old lad, of Tangalla, Ceylon, while fishing at the mouth of a river was carried more than 50 yards out to sea by a big fish. The fish swallowed his rod and swam back to safety. Two fishermen went out in a boat and picked up the rod. A big fish then sprang to the surface, broke the line and escaped.

If some of the fruit crops have not been so good this year, you may be disappointed at not having a full jam cupboard. But don't be discouraged at the lack of open spaces in your jam shelves. Accept the challenge and fill in those empty spaces with jams made of dried and canned fruits the modern short-bottle way, with bottled fruit pectin. The rich fruit fragrance is retained in the jam and is not boiled away. You will get more jam to each pound of fruit as well.

Dried Fruit Jam

4 cups (1 lb.) prepared fruit; 1 cup (1 lb.) sugar; 1 bottle fruit pectin. To prepare fruit, add 3/4 cup water to 1 pound fruit. Cover and let stand 4 hours or overnight. Then simmer over low heat 30 minutes. Drain fruit and remove pits; grind or chop fine and mix with juice. Add juice of 1 lemon. Measure sugar into large kettle. Add prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hot fire. Boil constantly before and while boiling. Stir hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Boil quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 glasses (8 fluid ounces each).

Dried Apricot and Pineapple Jam

1 cup (1 lb.) prepared fruit; 1 cup (1 lb.) sugar; 1 bottle fruit pectin. To prepare fruit, add 3/4 cup water to 1/2 pound dried apricots. Cover and let stand 4 hours or overnight. Then simmer over low heat 30 minutes. Drain fruit, grind or chop fine, and mix with juice. Crush well or grind 1 medium fully ripe pineapple, or use 1 No. 3 can crushed pineapple. Measure sugar into large kettle. Add prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hot fire. Boil constantly before and while boiling. Stir hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Boil quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 glasses (8 fluid ounces each).

Canned Pineapple Jam

1 cup (1 lb.) prepared fruit; 1 cup (1 lb.) sugar; 1 bottle fruit pectin. To prepare fruit, use 1 No. 3 can of pineapple. Grind or chop fine. Juice of 1 lemon may be added if more tart jam is desired. Measure sugar into large kettle. Add green coloring to five desired shade while mixture is coming to a boil. Use coloring which fruit acids do not fade. While mixture is coming to a boil, add 1/2 teaspoon spearmint extract. Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hot fire. Boil constantly before and while boiling. Stir hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and simmer by (turn) for 2 minutes. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 glasses (8 fluid ounces each).

PREPARE NOW FOR CHRISTMAS BLOOMS

Best Time to Plant Hardy
Annuals Is When Seed
Has Ripened

If you desire to have some fresh blooms in your home for the Christmas season, now is the time to get busy, and plant a few bulbs. The Due Van Thol tulip is the earliest to flower, and it planted immediately it can be brought to bloom in time to welcome old St. Nick.

Both narcissal and Madonna lilies will produce much better flowers if planted early.

Now that we've had a warning from Jack Frost, it behooves us to gather in the seeds from those flowers worth reproducing next year.

When the seed of the hardy annual such as the calendula, larkspur, candytuft, sweet alyssum, poppies, bachelor's button, and snapdragon, has ripened is the natural time to sow them. However it is not advisable to sow them too early particularly if the season is a warm one.

Balk Old Man Weather's bag of tricks for next spring, by getting a head start on him—start part of your rock garden now. Various species of tulips are very suitable for the rock garden; and make a fine showing. Among the kinds which may be planted now are tulipa gregii, brilliant vermilion; Kaufmanniana, creamy white; and sylvestris, pure yellow.

A Hardy Vine
One of the most satisfactory plants for indoor baskets, window boxes, or vine decoration is the philodendron. It requires minimum light, and is not a vine susceptible to conditions which aren't just according to O'Hoyle. If it has grown too long, shorten it by simply cutting off the stems. New plants may be propagated by rooting the cut stems in soil or water.

Girl Scout News

We held our meeting Friday, Oct. 13, 1933.

The patrols met in their respective corners to check up on dues and discuss business matters.

Our contest was held in honor of Columbus. Each patrol had to play out a scene or two from the life of Columbus. Four judges, one from each patrol, were chosen. They were Ruby Chinn, White Bear Patrol; Edna Van Patten, Lion; Bernice Sherman, Bluebird.

White Bear presented the scene in the court of Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand; Nightingale, the scene on the ship and the finding of land; Lion the court scene; and Bluebird, the scene of the paring of Columbus from his mother.

After the plays were over, the judges voted the scene presented by Lion as the prizewinner.

Taps were sung and the patrol leaders held Court of Honor.

Troop Scribe, Carolyn Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott left Sunday on a business trip to Dimmit, Texas. They expect to be gone a week or ten days.

How to Eat for Health

Frederic March's recipe for keeping cool seems to be a swim topped off with a glass of milk.

THE same food that has a part in building the "teeth behind famous smiles" works just as well toward beautifying the smiles of those of us who are not so famous. Fresh milk is that "tooth food"—the one which contains in desirable amounts, the minerals which are absolutely essential for healthy teeth. These minerals are calcium and phosphorus. About calcium scientists say it is one of the most necessary and at the same time the most neglected of the food elements. When taken in fresh milk, its best source, it is also one of the most economical.

TAXPAYERS ACT—

and counties from their share of the gasoline tax in proportion to the amount of relief they receive from the thirty million dollar bond issue. Pending the approval of this bond issue and in order to provide funds immediately for relief, the legislature is asked to levy a state wide property tax for approximately forty million dollars. State tax anticipation warrants would then be sold and these warrants paid off from the proceeds of the bond issue.

"The danger to downstate taxpayers however lies in the fact that the bond issue will probably be rejected, and the tax warrants will then have to be paid for by increased taxes on property, to be collected in 1935.

90 Per Cent to Cook County
 "Approximately 90 per cent of this thirty million dollars will be turned over to Cook County relief, but approximately half of the entire cost will be paid by downstate taxpayers, if the bond issue fails to carry.

"The Lantz bills which were passed by a majority of each house last June were vetoed by Gov. Horner. These bills authorized Cook county to tax itself for its own unemployment relief.

"Adequate legislation is necessary, of course to provide public funds to take care of those in need, but the burden of this cost must be borne equitably by each community.

"The legislators from this district should not vote to increase the present tax burden of their constituents but should insist that Cook county support the legislation which will enable it to provide for and pay for the relief necessary for its own people."
